GERMANY CLAIMS THE RIGHT TO DESTROY ANY
AMERICAN VESSEL CARRYING WAR CONTRABAND

Defiance Apparent in German Reply to American Note on Sinking of U. S. Ship, Wm. Frye, and Acceptance of Provisions By U. S. Would Throw All Such Cases in Prize Court.

NOTE DENIES ACT VIOLATED TREATY
BETWEEN U. S. AND GERMANY

Leading Newspapers of Germany Say Note Just Sent By America, If It Contains Provisions Originally Mentioned, Amounts to Ultimatum and That Demand to End Submarine Warfare Would Be Insult to the German People.

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 10.—Germany's answer to the latest note to the United States on the destruction of the contraband and the sinking of the American ship carrying it.

William P. Frye by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, received here today, makes the far reaching claim of a right to destroy any American vessel carrying contraband while agreeing to pay damages for the act.

Two points made by the United States are rejected by Germany. One was the statement of the American government in its note of April 28, that prize court proceedings meant unnecessary delay, all matters concerned being susceptible for prompt settlement through diplomatic channels, and the other was that the destruction of the Frye was "unquestionably a violation of the obligations imposed upon the Imperial government under existing treaties between the United States and Prussia.

Under the Prussian-American treaty of 1828, the binding force of which was admitted by Germany in its note of April 5, the right of citizens of either country to ship arms and ammunition, as well as all other kinds of contraband in their own vessels, was granted in time of war, but each party had the right to certain such contraband and make payment for it if confiscated.

The note from Germany today enlarges upon the treaty of 1828 by claiming that while the treaty did not specifically permit the destruction of the ship, nevertheless if its contraband could not be stopped in

German Submersible Gets In Deadly Work Off English Coast—Tide Turns In Favor of Russ—Italians Making Further Advances Into Austria—Cholera in Vienna—3,200,000 Britons in Army and Navy All to Be Sanctioned By Parliament.

By Associated Press.

London, June 10.—Two British torpedo boats were torpedoed this morning off the east coast of England by a German submarine. The boats are the No. 10 and the No. 12. The survivors, forty in number, have been brought ashore. This information was given out by the Admiralty today.

The total of men for the army and navy, sanctioned by Parliament for service so far in the present war, is 3,200,000.

"This number will not be exceeded with authority of Parliament," said Premier Asquith today, thus setting at rest the rumors that other forces had been mobilized without public knowledge.

It has been announced that the total number of officers and men who have perished through the sinking of British naval craft since the outbreak of the war is 6,409.

London, June 10.—A German tactical reverse in the Baltic provinces of Russia is indicated by the official statement today from Berlin.

It is said the Russians brought up reinforcements in the district south of Shavli and that the wing of the German forces which had been attempting an encircling movement east of the Dubysa river was withdrawn.

Fresh Russian forces have been brought up also in Galicia to the south of Lemberg, where the principal Austro-German effort is now being directed.

The Berlin announcement says that attacks of the Russians were repulsed. War reports from Paris and Berlin respecting the situation in the west show that on each side minor successes have been won.

Unofficial dispatches from Italian sources say the Italian army which is invading Austria in the direction of Trent has made a further advance. The Austrians destroyed and evacuated a fortress south of Roverto.

Three Austrian aeroplanes raided the Serbian arsenal at Kragujevac, dropping bombs which killed three persons and wounded ten. One of the Austrian aeroplanes is said to have been brought down.

Five more British vessels, of which four were trawlers, have been sunk by German submarines.

London, June 10.—Vienna reports say Italian efforts to cross the river Isonzo near Corizia have been repulsed after a serious engagement.

It appears the Italians have met the first difficult problem of their invasion of Austria in this endeavor to cross the Isonzo.

Geneva, June 10.—News has reached here which tends to confirm previous reports that cholera has broken out in Vienna. The disease is believed to have been brought to Vienna from Galicia by wounded soldiers.

A dispatch from Petrograd says that Russian forces north of Przemysl were preparing a new attack on the army of General von Mackensen. Sixty miles from Przemysl, it is reported, Russians repulsed a Bavarian force which retired, leaving a thousand and dead and wounded.

Rome, June 10.—Capture of the Austrian town of Monfalcone is announced in an official communication which says the town was occupied after stubborn fighting along the Isonzo river.

It is 16 miles northwest of the city of Trieste, against which the Italian invasion presumably is directed. Possession of Monfalcone would be of strategic importance to the Italians, particularly as it is connected by railroad with Trieste.

At various points along the Isonzo sharp fighting has occurred and several successes for the Italians are announced, but it is conceded the Austrians still hold dominating positions on the right or west bank of the river.

Italian forces are still moving northward over the Trent frontier, but thus far the engagements apparently have been little more than skirmishes.

Paris, June 10.—The captain of the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich has been arrested while disguised as a cook aboard an Italian steamer, says an Algerian dispatch to the Havas Agency.

Washington, June 10.—Captain Thierichens has been given a two weeks leave of absence June 2 by officials at the Norfolk navy yard, but it was said at Norfolk today that he had returned recently and is now on board his vessel. The third surgeon is away from the ship and an inquiry is being made.

Second Statement From Former Premier to Be Released When American Note Is Made Public in Morning—Note Reaching Ambassador Gerard Insists On American Rights—Next Action of Bryan Awaited With Interest.

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 10.—Former Secretary Bryan is preparing another statement of his attitude on the situation between the United States and Germany, which he intends to issue for publication with the appearance of the text of the American note in tomorrow morning's newspapers.

Pending the publication of the note tomorrow officials would not discuss its details, but it was declared it was no more in the nature of an ultimatum than was the last note.

The note makes it very plain, however, that the United States expects that Germany shall cease attacks on American ships and citizens.

Washington, June 10.—William J. Bryan's resignation as secretary of state still held the center of interest in Washington today. Its effect on the nation's foreign relations and also its political consequences afford widespread speculation.

Chief attention was concentrated on the effect of Mr. Bryan's personal statement giving the reason for his resignation. In that statement Mr. Bryan announced his intention, as a private citizen, of submitting to the public for judgment his view of what the American policy toward Germany should be.

The propositions which Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the people are that an offer should be made to Germany to submit the questions in dispute to an international commission for investigation during a year's time and that meanwhile American citizens should, by proclamation, be warned not to take passage on belligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition.

The suggestions, Mr. Bryan explains, have been submitted to the president who had not felt justified in adopting them. It is upon these propositions that Mr. Bryan hopes to create a public sentiment in the United States that will make war with Germany impossible.

Mr. Bryan's statement, some officials thought, was unfortunate, coming at a time when the discussion with Germany was in progress. Some members of the cabinet advised against the issuance of the statement.

There was much speculation as to who would succeed Mr. Bryan. Acting secretary Lansing, it was believed, would receive the permanent appointment when the president makes his choice.

Washington, June 10.—The American note to Germany, concerning the sinking of the Lusitania, precipitated the cabinet crisis, was believed here today to have reached Ambassador Gerard at Berlin today. The American ambassador is expected to present the note immediately to the German Foreign Office.

It will be given out tonight for publication tomorrow morning. President Wilson has asked that detailed forecasts of the note be not published.

A reply is not expected for at least a week or ten days, as the German government is expected to await the arrival of Count Bernstorff's envoy before answering.

NEWS

The note, though couched in friendly terms, reiterates firmly the demands for reparation for the losses of American lives on the Lusitania and sets forth clearly the earnest desire of the American government that Germany signify her early adherence to the principles of international law—that neutrals be permitted to travel on unarmed ships without being subject to the dangers of submarine warfare.

It became known today that just before the note was forwarded to Berlin it was shown to former Secretary Bryan by acting Secretary Lansing, at the personal direction of President Wilson. Some slight changes had been made in the note and the president wanted Mr. Bryan to see it in its final form.

BODY NOT THAT OF VANDERBILT

By Associated Press.

London, June 10.—A report has been received here from Ireland that the body of Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt who lost his life May 17, when the Lusitania went down, has been found by an old woman collecting seaweed on the Cliffs of Moher.

A watch in the clothing is said to bear the initials of Mr. Vanderbilt and papers in the pocket would appear to identify him.

The representative in London of the Vanderbilt family received word from Queenstown, this afternoon, that the body recovered on the coast of County Clare last night was not that of Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt.

GARZA UNSEATED FOR VILLA MAN

Washington, June 10.—Rogue Gonzales Garza, head of the Villa Zapata government in Mexico City was deposed June 9 by the convention in session there. Lagos Chazaro a Villa delegate, was elevated to the provisional presidency. State department dispatches today told of the change.

ENGLAND IS NEXT

Washington, June 10.—That the president has determined to send to Great Britain a strong representation to that government to cease what the United States considers unwarranted interference with American trade with several neutral countries, is the conviction of persons who have recently discussed the subject at the White House. Those who have talked with the president on this subject are under the impression that the note to Great Britain will go forward just as soon as it can be sent without danger of complicating the issue with Germany.

After a lull of ten days the subject was brought to the attention of the president in the last few days by southerners, who are greatly interested in the effect the British practices are having on the cotton trade with Germany and adjacent neutral countries. From similar quarters came the delegation of two weeks ago on this subject. It is now declared that the cotton situation is becoming very serious, and that some action by the national government in regard to it is imperative if American rights are to be adequately secured.

AMERICAN
TO BERLIN

Washington, June 10.—The note of President Wilson to Germany, which occasioned the withdrawal of William J. Bryan from the cabinet, is on the way to Berlin. It will be published in the newspapers Friday, by which time, it is calculated, it will have reached Berlin.

Regardless of the result of President Wilson's renewed demands upon Germany to make her submarine operations conform to the principles of international law and humanity, it is felt that the document is almost certain to take a large place in the history of the United States. As the cause of a cabinet crisis and a new turning point in the career of Mr. Bryan, it is regarded as of great importance whether it proves to be the prelude to unfriendly relations with Germany or not.

While the details of the note are being guarded carefully, officials have permitted it to become known that the chief feature of the communication is a second summons to Germany to state her intentions as to the observance of the principles of international law, which this government has invoked for the protection of American life and property on the high seas. Such contentions of Germany as to alleged facts in the Lusitania case as the president felt it was proper to discuss are disposed of in the note most friendly, every effort having been made to make the expression of the United States' position as little offensive to Germany as possible.

Administration officials say that the future now rests with Germany. The action of the president in letting Mr. Bryan leave the cabinet rather than abandon the course he and the rest of his advisers agreed on as proper was pointed to as certain to have the effect of stiffening the stand of this government.

Sticks to Original Proposal.

It is felt that now all uncertainty as to whether the president will stick by his original position on the submarine issue has been removed. The German

SUNDAY SCHOOLS
OF STATE WILL
HAVE REAL HOME

Articles of incorporation, not for profit, have been asked of the secretary of state at Columbus by the Ohio Sunday School Association which after 56 years of informal existence will put itself in position to own and control property.

This move is made in anticipation of favorable action at the state Sunday school convention at Zanesville, June 22, 23 and 24, when a plan will be submitted for raising a fund of $100,000, part to be employed in the purchase of permanent headquarters for the state association work, and the remainder to go to an endowment fund, the proceeds from which will be used to support new work not possible with the revenues now available.

Letters of inquiry, directed to every county in the state, have produced hearty commendation of the plan from a large number of leaders in Sunday school work. It is estimated that there are 1,000,000 Sunday school scholars in Ohio, so that a contribution of 10 cents each will raise the desired fund.

Incorporating the Sunday school association is a legal necessity to permit it to own property. Those who signed the incorporation papers are: Dr. W. G. Clippinger, Westerville; Ed. L. Young, Norwalk; E. L. Barrett, Springfield; W. H. Radebaugh, Lancaster; George Bareis, Canal Winchester; J. D. Darling, Columbus; C. W. Shinn, Toledo; M. G. Bailey, Columbus and Dr. Harman Heston, Columbus.

A conference of all county and township executive officers and Sunday school superintendents has been called to meet in Zanesville, June 23, during the state convention, to advise on this subject.

LOOKING FOR ROOM
ENOUGH TO SET IT

The building commission and county commissioners of Clinton county are still looking for a place in central Wilmington large enough to form a site for the $300,000 court house which soon is to be erected in that city.

Two or three sites are under consideration, with the majority of commissioners favoring a location about one square from the Pennsylvania depot, although many of the citizens, it is understood, would be pleased to have the building erected on the old woolen mill corner, believing it would greatly beautify that part of the city.

The following article, from the Wilmington Journal, relative to the powder mills at Goes station, near Xenia, shows how great is the demand for munitions of war and the efforts made to destroy plants furnishing such materials:

The Kings Mills Powder Co. a few weeks ago took on a large foreign contract for one of the countries now engaged in warfare in Europe. Since that time, however, there have been several suspicious characters around the mills, and the company, in order to safeguard their property and interests, have placed the town under martial law. Guards armed with Winchesters patrol the property, all trains are carefully watched, and any strangers are asked to make the next town as soon as they are through with their business in Kings Mills.

There have been several attempts to blow up Eastern powder mills, who had contracts for manufacturing powder and explosives for the Allies, and the Kings Mills Company decided they would take no chances.

The mills are working day and night to get out their orders, the big blasting department being closed and the workmen transferred to the other plant.

BRYAN IS TO APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY

Washington, June 10.—William J. Bryan's first act as a private citizen was to issue a statement explaining his reasons for leaving the cabinet and announcing that he intended to lay his view of what the American policy toward Germany should be before the public for judgment.

The statement came as a sensational climax to farewell speeches and good wishes from President Wilson and executive colleagues of the retiring secretary.

In his explanation Mr. Bryan revealed that the president had not felt justified in adopting two suggestions made by his secretary of state—that an offer should be made to Germany to submit the questions in dispute with the United States to an international commission for investigation during a year's time and that meanwhile Americans should, by proclamation, be warned not to take passage on any belligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition.

These propositions Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the people, "in the hope of securing such an expression of public sentiment as will support the president in employing these remedies if in the future he finds it consistent with his sense of duty to favor them."

Mr. Bryan's statement was received with amazement in official quarters. No comment was made at the White House, but some high officials indicated that they believed it most unfortunate that so pronounced an expression of opinion should be made public while the discussion with Germany was in progress.

The principle advocated by Mr. Bryan is embodied in treaties of peace negotiated by the United States with thirty nations and was accepted by Germany, although no convention ever was drafted. The statement is a condensation of the argument which Secretary Bryan has been making repeatedly to President Wilson in the last few weeks and upon which he hopes to build up a public sentiment in the United States that will make war with Germany impossible.

Mr. Bryan made it plain that none of his speeches on the subject of peace would be for pay. It is known that Mr. Bryan will remain in Washington at least two weeks, and then will take a brief rest at Asheville, N. C. The expectation is that after that he will take up his tour of speech-making.

Reading That Is Important

Never before have newspapers been read with such intense eagerness all over the world as today. If a decade ago saw a nation of careful newspaper readers today sees a nation of ravenous newspaper readers. We cannot ignore that there is real history in the making today.

Censored as it is, enough news sifts through to the expert newspaper men in the fields to make the newspaper the big interest of each day.

Papers have grown to be so enormous; to cover so many fields outside of mere current events, that more and more the drift is to be satisfied after the perusal of the daily and to neglect other reading.

Important as is the keeping in touch with each day's progress and, unwilling as we should all be to be considered ignorant of world events, transpiring with such rapidity as to lend to the newspaper the excitement of the novel, yet it is a fallacy to think that no other reading is needed outside of the daily paper.

A knowledge of the past is necessary as a background for the present. Before we can adjust our point of view properly and be able to exercise any fairness of judgment, we must be familiar with past conditions of which present events are the sequence.

Consequently history must be read, and there is little doubt that there has been more general reading of history since the beginning of the present war than in many a decade.

With the breaking up of that era of peace during which militarism had figured low in public interest, there came constant references to battles of the past, and constant comparisons with noted wars of history, and people were aroused to delve into pages of dust covered books for necessary information. People in general will be far better posted in regard to both history and geography after this war than they have ever been before.

Nor does the reading of history alone fill in the background completely for the well balanced mind. The reading of philosophy is important to throw high lights upon peoples and motives; to aid in the understanding of those cults which influence each nation.

Science must be studied to understand the great discoveries and inventions which are changing the entire modern world into a huge machine of horrible realism, before which the chivalric adventure and flashing swords of those combats of the middle ages seem like a picturesque epic of mythology.

Whatever biology, genealogy, prophecy or other lore can lend to broaden intelligence it is wisdom to grasp for the more richly the mind is stored the more can it cope with the enormous problems which, as never in the history of the world, present themselves today.

Be a newspaper reader, but be a newspaper reader with the mental equipment to understand and to be capable of a broad judgment.

Now for Some Dry Days

The fine weather of Monday and Tuesday brought all the available force in the rural districts to the corn fields. Men and teams were hard at work all day Monday and Tuesday forenoon plowing.

The long period of wet weather has made it impossible to work the corn and in nearly every field the weeds have made big gains on the farmer.

Ten days or two weeks or even a longer period of dry, hot weather would work a wonderful change in conditions. It would enable the farmers to clean up the corn fields and at the same time bring the young corn forward to an extent which would practically insure its growth.

The rains have been fine for the grass and the wheat and to fill up the reserve tanks for use when the summer and fall droughts come along, as they are certain to do, but right now the farmers are ready to welcome a spell of dry weather.

In the month of June, generally speaking, we cannot expect much dry weather. It is the month of thunder showers and bright sunshine between showers—the sticky humid weather, the hot house atmosphere—which gives to vegetation its early vigor and luxuriance.

Sometimes the seasons shift and change a little and having had so much wet weather in May and early June it may be possible that the thunder showers, typical of June, will be less frequent, and allow the farmers to get even with their work.

Right now anyway, the farmers want Fayette county to "go dry."

Poetry For Today

THE WAY WE TREAT OUR OWN.

If I had known in the morning How wearily all the day The words unkind would trouble my mind That I said when you went away, I had been more careful, darling, Nor given you needless pain; But—we vex our own with look and tone We might never talk back again.

For though in the quiet evening You may give me the kiss of peace, Yet it well might be that never for me The pain of the heart would cease! How many come forth in the morning Who never go home at night, And hearts have been broken for harsh words spoken That sorrow can ne'er set right.

We have careful thought for the stranger.

And smiles for the sometime guest, But oft for our own the bitter tone, Though we love our own the best, Ah, lips with the curve impatient,

Ah, brow with the shade of scorn, 'Twere cruel fate were the night too late

To undo the work of morn.

ATTORNEY IS IN AWKWARD PLACE

New York, June 10.—Through his efforts to escape prosecution for conspiring with twenty other defendants to violate the Sherman law, Edward D. Robbins, formerly the legal brains of the New Haven system, put himself in a position which may require Judge Hunt of the United States district court to declare him technically guilty without a trial.

Robbins based his plea of immunity on the testimony which he gave before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington and before the federal grand jury. The plea was denied by Judge Hunt and the government attorneys now insist that Robbins is guilty pro forma, having of necessity admitted in his plea the commission of certain acts with which he was charged and from which he claimed exemption from prosecution.

A man may be a wall eyed boob with a face like a catfish. But you can always please him by telling him what a catch he is among the women.

The number of men who know all about the war in Europe is only exceeded by the number of men who do not want to hear them tell it.

Father will spend a whole evening with the Bar Rail Publishers and Nose Paint Destroyers' union and then get up the next morning and complain that overwork and worry are undermining his health.

A man may have some doubts about his wife's talents, but he is always willing to bet you that his dog knows as much as a human being.

Sometimes daughter goes to church in the morning and mother goes to church in the evening because there isn't enough hair in the house to permit both to go together.

A man wants his pants pressed as often after marriage as he does when he is engaged. But after marriage his pants do not get baggy from holding his wife on his knees.

Before he gets her he will find a long, silky hair from her head on his coat, and he will kiss it and keep it in his inside vest pocket. After he gets her he will find one of her hairs on his coat, and he will want a divorce and cuss until the atmosphere is blue.

A princess will spend four solid hours dolling up and primping to keep a date with her fellow. And then, when the fellow suggests that they go to a show, she will say, "Oh, I can't. I look perfectly awful. If I had known that we were going anywhere I would have fixed up my hair and put on something fit to wear."

A single man has a right to get sore when a holdup man stops him on his way home and relieves him of all his change. But a married man doesn't feel so bad about it. He knows that his wife would have done the job any way after he reached the house.

It is a wise stenographer who is uglier than the wife of her boss.

RUSSIAN ARMY IS CUT OFF

London, June 10.—Driving a wedge between the Russian armies in middle Galicia and Bukowina and capturing the Galician town of Stanislau, the Austro-German armies have obtained strong advantage in that section of the eastern theater where the czar's forces had gained partial successes.

Dispatches from the Austrian headquarters state that the Russian army in Bukowina, which had been strengthened by portions of the detachments already defeated at Kalusz, eastern Galicia, has been fully cut off from the middle Galician forces of the Russians and is being driven back eastward. General Baltin's left wing is reported prosecuting a violent offensive movement, while the advance of the armies of Generals Linsingen, Szurmay and Hoffman is proceeding by forced marches.

Stanislau, which has been captured by the Austrians, according to the official statement issued by the German army headquarters, is seventy-five miles southeast of Lemberg, the Galician capital.

The capture by the Austro-Germans of Stanislau shows that the offensive against the Russian left has been successful and that the Russians have been compelled to fall back to their defenses on the Dniester. In eastern Galicia, along the rest of the line which follows the upper Dniester and thence eastward from Przemysl to the lower San, they appear to be holding their own and are counter attacking.

A Berlin dispatch says 45,000 Russians were made prisoners at Stanislau.

CANDIDATES ARE FILING FOR MUNICIPAL OFFICE

Number of Candidates This Year
Not So Great as Heretofore.
Complete List of Those Filing
Petitions Up to Press Time
This Afternoon—Last Day of Filing.

Indications at a late hour Thursday were that there will be a marked falling off in the number of persons seeking one of the various municipal offices in this city, and up to eleven o'clock Thursday morning only fifteen candidates for the various offices, including assessor, had been filed with George A. Gregg, Clerk of the Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Elections of Fayette county. It is the last day for filing petitions to get under the wire for the race for nomination at the coming primary election, Tuesday, August 16th, when candidates for the general election in November will be picked by the voters.

So far this year there has been a marked falling off in the scramble for the primary, and the contests are not expected to be as bitter as heretofore.

While nomination petitions may be filed until twelve o'clock tonight, there are no indications that Mayor Coffey will have opposition at the coming primary, while on the Republican ticket Charles Johnson and John Oster Jr. are the candidates filing up to late in the afternoon.

In addition to those mentioned for mayor, others who had filed for the various offices at eleven o'clock Thursday morning are:

Those filing later than above mentioned, are: for council, 3rd ward, Wm. J. Smith; 3rd ward, M. S. Tracey.

1. Recognize its necessity. It will increase reverence. It will recognize God in the home. It will increase in our children the spirit of true devotion. It will make God and sacred unseen things real. Children see flowers, the beauties of nature, the pleasures of the world, the passing show, the funny side of the newspaper, the dazzling allurements of the world, they see and read about sin in all its forms. God is unseen, heaven is far away, the spiritual life is invisible, and these things must be brought to them in human forms. They must see Father and Mother worshiping, they must hear your voice, see the light in your eye, feel the fervor of your soul! This is the only way religion can ever be real to them. Then we must

2. Consecrate ourselves to it! Covenant with God. Like Abraham, build an altar unto the Lord. Old habits of silence, formed by years of neglect, are hard to break. Set yourself to the task! Frankly tell your wife and children you have neglected what you see now was a plain duty to God and to them. Show them the need of Family Worship as you now see it, and ask them to give you their sympathy and help. Resolve to start at once, do not delay. Duty is the heaviest word in the English language. And now

3. How to begin: See that each member of the family who can read has a clear print reference Bible. Take the daily readings of the Sunday school lesson, or the Bible by course, if you prefer. Let father read a verse, then mother, then the oldest child, and so on around, till a part of a chapter has been read. Comment a little on what has been read, take the best verse to remember through the day. Then sing a verse or two of some old sweet song, let father or mother offer a short prayer, naming the need of each child by name, then all join in the Lord's prayer. Next morning let another one pray, and others join in the Lord's prayer. You will realize William Cullen Bryant "benediction that follows prayer." This whole ex-

The United States Army on a War Basis

Peace Strength and Methods of Increase to Millions When Millions Are Needed.

By Capt. GEORGE L. KILMER, Late U. S. V.

THE latest official report of the secretary of war on the strength of the land forces shows that the regular army of the United States consists of 4,701 officers and 87,781 men. Of these 758 officers and 17,901 men belong to the coast artillery and are therefore practically stationary. In coast defenses: 1,008 officers and 18,434 men belong to the staff, technical and noncombatant branches of the army, including recruits and men engaged in recruiting. This leaves the army which can be moved from place to place—that is, the mobile army, so called—composed of 2,925 officers and 51,446 men.

The various characters of troops are disposed of approximately as follows:

In the Philippines, 3 1-3 regiments infantry, 2 regiments cavalry, 1 regiment field artillery, 2 companies engineers,

MAJOR GENERAL HUGH L. SCOTT, CHIEF OF STAFF, UNITED STATES ARMY.

11 companies coast artillery (aggregate strength, 9,572). In the Hawaiian Islands, 3 regiments infantry, 1 regiment cavalry, 1 regiment field artillery, 1 company engineers, 8 companies coast artillery (aggregate strength, 8,195). In the canal zone, 1 regiment infantry, 3 companies coast artillery (aggregate strength, 2,179). In China, 2 battalions infantry (aggregate strength, 849). In Alaska, 1 regiment infantry (aggregate strength, 862). In Vera Cruz (since withdrawn), 4 regiments infantry, 2 troops cavalry, 1 battalion field artillery, 1 company engineers; total, 4,090.

In Porto Rico, a 2 battalion regiment infantry (strength, 707). In United States, 17 regiments infantry, 11 10-13 regiments cavalry, 3 1/2 regiments field artillery, 2 battalions engineers, 148 companies coast artillery (aggregate strength, 64,570). Troops en route and officers at other foreign stations, 1,448.

Practically all these organizations in the United States are on what is known as a peace footing, which means that an infantry company, which upon a war footing should have 150 men, now has 65 men; a cavalry troop, which upon a war footing should have 100 men, now has 70 men; an artillery battery, which upon a war footing should have 171 men, now has 133 men. The coast artillery companies are always kept on a war footing of 104 men each.

In addition to work with the troops themselves, the officers of the army are called upon to do a great variety of work known as detached service. For instance, the engineers have 65 officers detached for river and harbor work, and the other branches of the army have 578 officers of the line detached for service in training the organized militia of the several states, on duty at schools, recruiting, etc.

As a result scarcely any unit in the army ever has its proper complement of officers, and the need for an increase of officers is urgent and imperative. In continental United States we had in the mobile army at the last report 1,495 officers and 29,405 men.

For the purpose of information the following table is presented, showing the population and military resources on a peace and war footing of other nations in comparison with ours:

LAND FORCES OF VARIOUS COUNTRIES.

Total trained

Population, Peace war strength, strength.

Germany ..... 64,903,423 620,000 4,000,000

France ..... 38,961,945 569,000 3,000,000

Russia ..... 160,095,200 1,200,000 4,500,000

Great Britain and colonies ..... 396,294,752 254,500 800,000

Italy ..... 32,475,253 275,000 1,200,000

Austria-Hungary 49,118,596 360,000 2,000,000

Japan ..... 53,875,320 220,000 1,200,000

Turkey ..... 35,784,876 420,000 1,200,000

Spain ..... 19,503,908 115,000 300,000

Switzerland ..... 3,741,971 140,000 25,000

Sweden ..... 5,476,441 75,000 400,000

Belgium ..... 7,074,910 42,000 180,000

United States ..... 98,781,324 97,760 225,170

Excluding native army, 160,000.

Including organized militia and Philippine scouts.

The organized militia of the various states totals 8,323 officers and 119,987 men. The enlisted men thereof are required, in order to obtain the financial aid which the congress authorizes the secretary of war to extend under certain conditions, to attend twenty-four drills a year and five days annually in the field. If all of the national guard could be summoned in the event of war and should all respond (an inconceivable result and if they were all found fairly efficient in the first line—that is, the troops who would be expected immediately to take the field—we could summon a force in this country of regulars and national guard amounting to 9,818 officers and 150,492 men.

The Volunteers.

The important and distinguishing features of the volunteer army act now in force are:

Any volunteer organization recruited up to three-fourths of its strength may be taken into the service by the president regardless of the militia regiments. The president has control of the appointment of officers of the volunteer regiments, which has heretofore been vested in the governors of the respective states.

The law makes the volunteer army the counterpart of the regular forces, requiring that they shall be officered and equipped on the same basis as the regulars.

It is designed to obviate all the trouble that was encountered at the beginning of the war with Spain, when strife among the volunteer organizations for assignment and the political influence exerted interfered materially with the work of getting the volunteer army in workable shape.

Under the act the president may call out the volunteer army by proclamation and disband it as soon as peace is formally declared.

The president is authorized to make the necessary regulations for receiving the men into service and to select the necessary officers. The law provides for an apportionment among the states of the enlistments in proportion to population.

The law practically makes the volunteer army subject to the regulations that govern the regulars. The president receives absolute authority for making an organization of the forces into brigades and divisions regardless of state lines.

The officers are to be appointed by the president, not for particular organizations, but for the arm of the service subject to assignment for service by the war department.

New Officers.

In making appointments the president shall give preference to men with honorable discharges from the regular army or militia, to graduates of military schools and may accept the recommendations of governors.

He may take officers from the regular state militia lists, and appointments shall be made on a population basis and, so far as possible, from localities where the troops to be commanded by the appointees come from.

Only four regular army officers shall serve in any one volunteer regiment at the same time, and temporary vacancies shall be filled by promotions from lower grades. Provision is made for establishment of recruiting stations

*Under the act of congress approved Aug. 24, 1912, the 6,000 authorized enlisted men of the quartermaster corps are not to be counted as part of the strength of the army.

**Includes 96 first lieutenants of the medical reserve corps on active duty and 60 dental surgeons.

Under the act of congress approved March 1, 1887 (24 Stat. L. 435), the enlisted men of the medical department (hospital corps) are not to be counted as part of the strength of the army. The authorized strength of the hospital corps is 4,012 enlisted men.

from the depots. In this way the organizations in the field may be kept full of able-bodied fighting troops, while at the same time the services of partly disabled men may not be lost entirely to the government. In other words, the proposed law permits the establishment of the depot battalion system for all regiments of regulars and volunteers. The last provision authorizes the enlistment and training of recruits for the national guard organizations in the state universities and military schools.

Fighting Head of the Army.

Chief of Staff General Hugh L. Scott has passed his whole army career getting experience on how to fight and handle fighters.

When graduated from West Point in 1879 Scott was assigned to the cavalry as an officer. He campaigned against the Blackfeet, the Sioux and several tribes of the northwest. He fought the Indians so well they admired him, and when he talked peace to them they were glad to listen. How this man, trained to war, became the greatest peacemaker the frontier has ever known came about through his wish to learn. When placed on the frontier Scott wanted to learn something, so he learned Indian languages. A half dozen tribes adopted him, and they would not fight him.

Scott was a major when the war with Spain began. He served in Cuba through the war and became adjutant to Major General Wood when military governor of Cuba. After leaving Cuba Scott was detailed to the Sulu Islands, where he was military governor. There he continued his peaceful methods and became known as father of all the Moros. From the Sulus Scott was made chancellor of West Point. When the troubles broke out on the Mexican frontier Scott was placed on the border patrol.

Recently Scott was made major general and chief of staff. One of his first duties as chief of staff was to go to the Mexican border and arrange for the Mexicans to shoot at each other instead of shooting across the border line and killing American citizens in Arizona.

Medical Corps Ready.

General William C. Gorgas, surgeon general of the United States army, said recently:

"We have a medical corps large enough to treat 400,000 men in the field if war should break out tomorrow, and we could put this medical force of the army into action at once in case of hostilities. We have supplies enough to treat four times the number of men in our army at present. In addition to the 500 physicians that are at present connected with the troops, there are 1,300 more in the reserve medical corps, which the United States could employ immediately. As far as the medical side of war is concerned, we are prepared. Furthermore, let me add that the medical branch of the army is by far better prepared for war, if hostilities should be started immediately, than any other department of the army.

"There is room for improvement. We are constantly working toward that end, but I sincerely believe that if 400,000 men should be placed in the field tomorrow the medical corps, both regular and reserve, could handle the situation easily, effectively and successfully."

UNITED STATES ARMY

An Expert Estimate.

Using the experience of the civil war in both northern and southern states, allowing for alien and other nonmilitary elements and noting the results in the European war, I place the actual military strength of the country at 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 the first year of war and 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 in a three or four year contest. Of the estimated military population at least 50 per cent must be rejected as actually unavailable when it comes to a muster at the colors. And it must be kept in mind that this estimate applies to men only and does not include equipment for battle. European countries which have suddenly called great armories to the field find themselves seriously handicapped in this respect.

The volunteer army act is intended to provide for the emergency of a sudden call to war. The matter has been subject for study, experiment and debate ever since the civil war. As soon as congress authorizes the president to use the military power of the country the standing army of 200,000 men

(of artillery ammunition) in from three to four months, the assembling being done to a considerable extent if not entirely at the Frankford arsenal. After getting under way private manufacturers could turn out perhaps 100,000 or 200,000 rounds per month for two or three months, and after a total time of six months the production would perhaps equal 250,000 rounds per month. The best estimates indicate that at the end of the first six months not to exceed 250,000 rounds could be procured from all sources, including government plants. After that there would be no particular difficulty in securing ammunition as rapidly as might be needed.

Enlistment Law For the Army.

The army act of Aug. 24, 1912, prescribes a seven years' term of enlistment in the army after Nov. 1, 1912, in lieu of the previous term of three years, the first four years with the colors in active service and the remaining three years on furlough, without pay, and attached to the army reserve established by the same act. The army reserves are subject to be called into active service only in the event of actual or threatened hostilities.

A soldier after four years' continuous service, either under a first or any subsequent enlistment, may be re-enlisted for seven years and receive a final discharge from his prior enlistment, or after three years' continuous service may, upon his written request, be furloughed and transferred to the reserve. Enlistment periods for service are counted as four years. First enlistments are confined to men between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five years. All soldiers receive, in addition to their pay, rations, clothing, bedding and medical attendance while with the colors.

The military system has been so centralized that there can be no hitch between state and federal powers. The state volunteers pass immediately under control of the federal power, and the president directs the formation of field armies, beginning with brigades, which form divisions and these again army corps.

The proceedings of the Spanish-American war will be followed in this war—that is to say, the raw regiments will gather in camps distributed over the country. Naturally they will be convenient to the coast either in point of distance or rapid transportation facilities. The war maneuvers of the past few years have been practice maneuvers in mobilization as well as in strategy and tactics, and concentration of bodies will keep pace with the formation of units ready for the front.

A mobile army of 50,000 men is what the secretary asks to act as "a head to our spear, leaving the shaft to be fitted later." Such an army, Mr. Garrison said, would serve these two purposes:

"First, if we were attacked it would serve as a stop gap, keeping the enemy at bay or at least harassing him sufficiently to retard his progress until the reserves, militia and volunteer forces could be organized. In other words, it would be the skeleton upon which we could pack flesh in a hurry when occasion arose. Second, such an army would be large enough to provide a school to graduate trained instructors, who could work the raw material into shape."

Time For Making Guns.

Regarding the matter of making artillery guns and ammunition to feed them the following information from experts is interesting:

Colonel Edwin St. J. Greble, assistant to the chief of staff, speaking at the hearings on the fortifications appropriation bill, fiscal year 1914, said:

"The following are the estimates by the chief of ordnance: It would take five months from the date of an order for the manufacturer to begin delivery of complete batteries of three inch or 3.8 inch field artillery material. They could then be produced for two months at the rate of six batteries per month and thereafter at the rate of ten batteries per month. Larger guns (details omitted in this quotation) could be delivered, the first battery in seven months after date of order, three per month for two months thereafter and five batteries per month thereafter."

Major E. P. O'Hern, assistant to the chief of ordnance, speaking at the same hearing as that referred to immediately above, said:

"It is expected that private manufacturers, if given orders to run under war conditions, could begin deliveries

FULL RETREAT

El Paso, Tex., June 10.—General Villa's main army, defeated at Leon, is retreating on Torreon, according to advice received here. A telegram from General Villa in person was dated at Aguas Calientes, showing that the northern leader himself has retreated that far.

A small guard has been left at Lagos de Moreno, where Villa retired in the state of Jalisco, following the loss of Leon, but all equipment saved in the battle has been sent to Torreon and the main body of troops is already beginning to arrive there, it is reported.

A farther northern advance by General Obregon is reported to be un-likely.

Villa is having great difficulty in moving trains on the Torreon-Juarez division because of the strike of al-switchmen, car handlers and engineers. Passengers who arrived on the train that reached Juarez report that a heavy guard accompanied the train and that the engineer and fireman were kept at their posts at the point of a revolver. There is a large quantity of freight in the Juarez yards and large amounts of freight destined for the north are remaining in Chihuahua.

Immediate relief of the famine conditions in Mexico City is promised by the opening of the railroad between that city and Vera Cruz. Carranza has ordered that the line be repaired and has also ordered that all classes of foodstuffs be allowed to pass through to the capital at once.

W. C. T. U. OBSERVES FLOWER MISSION DAY

This year's "Flower Mission Day" of the County W. C. T. U. records itself as the banner celebration with the largest representation from the various unions ever participating.

Nearly a hundred women drove to the Children's Home in time for dinner, taking with them splendidly filled baskets for a sumptuous picnic dinner, and also a bouquet for each child of the Home. Mrs. J. W. Willis added to the children's delight by an ice cream treat.

The lovely grounds of the Home were most inviting with the bright sunshine pouring down upon masses of bloom, and Superintendent and Mrs. Pinkerton gave the visitors cordial welcome and assisted in the plans for the dinner.

There was a pleasing program, in which the children took part and each union responded.

After dinner the party drove to the infirmary, where Superintendent and Mrs. Casey and the inmates were in readiness for them.

The unions entertained with a short program. At both places were left treats of candy, nuts and bananas, and it was a happy day for all taking part.

At an executive session the W. C. T. U. decided to present a Bible to the Children's Home and a smaller one to each child.

I. O. R. M. MEMORIAL SERVICES

ENRAGED WOMAN GOES ON RAMPAGE

The police were called to East Market street about 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night after receiving a message that Mrs. Lon Anderson had run amuck in the home of Emilie Thornton, breaking dishes and scattering household furniture in every direction.

A crowd had gathered in front of the Thornton home when the police arrived. The doors of the house were thrown open and the officers went inside but a thorough search failed to reveal anyone in the house. The police were told by a bystander that he had heard the breaking of dishes and the screams of a woman. No arrests were made. Lon Anderson reported the trouble to the police. The persons involved are unknown.

GERMANY CLAIMS THE RIGHT TO DESTROY ANY AMERICAN VESSEL CARRYING WAR CONTRABAND

Defiance Apparent in German Reply to American Note on Sinking of U. S. Ship, Wm. Frye, and Acceptance of Provisions By U. S. Would Throw All Such Cases in Prize Court.

NOTE DENIES ACT VIOLATED TREATY BETWEEN U. S. AND GERMANY

Leading Newspapers of Germany Say Note Just Sent By America, If It Contains Provisions Originally Mentioned, Amounts to Ultimatum and That Demand to End Submarine Warfare Would Be Insult to the German People.

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 10.—Germany's latest note to the United States on the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, received here today, makes the far reaching claim of a right to destroy any American vessel carrying contraband while agreeing to pay damages for the act.

Two points made by the United States are rejected by Germany. One was the statement of the American government in its note of April 28, that prize court proceedings meant unnecessary delay, all matters concerned being susceptible for prompt settlement through diplomatic channels, and the other was that the destruction of the Frye was "unquestionably a violation of the obligations imposed upon the Imperial government under existing treaties between the United States and Prussia."

Under the Prussian-American treaty of 1828, the binding force of which was admitted by Germany in its note of April 5, the right of citizens of either country to ship arms and ammunition, as well as all other kinds of contraband in their own vessels, was granted in time of war, but each party had the right to detain such contraband and make payment for it if confiscated.

The note from Germany today enlarges upon the treaty of 1828 by claiming that while the treaty did not specifically permit the destruction of the ship, nevertheless if its contraband could not be stopped in any other way, it could "in the extreme case be effected by the destruction of the contraband and the ship carrying it."

The effect of Germany's answer today, if its assertions are accepted by the United States, would be to throw into the prize courts for decision all cases of whether destruction of an American vessel constituted an extreme case of military necessity.

When the declaration of London established finally that in case of military necessity a ship whose cargo was more than half contraband could be destroyed after passengers and crew were removed to a place of safety, the declaration was not ratified by the United States, express notice having been given again by the American government to Germany in the note of April 28 that the declaration was not regarded as in force.

Berlin, June 10.—The Vorwaerts, commenting on Secretary Bryan's resignation, says that his leaving the cabinet now means undoubtedly that attacks of the Russians were repulsed in the form planned by ed. War reports from Paris and President Wilson will not lack much Berlin respecting the situation in of being an ultimatum to Germany. The west show that on each side

The Tages-Zeitung declares that minor successes have been won, even the imputation that Germany would consider abandoning her submarine warfare would be considered by the entire country as an insult and declares that Germany cannot recede in any degree from the standpoint already taken, no matter what President Wilson's note may demand.

PRINZ EITEL COMMANDER IS ARRESTED?

By Associated Press.

Paris, June 10.—The captain of the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich has been arrested while disguised as a cook aboard an Italian steamer, says an Algerian dispatch to the Havas Agency.

Washington, June 10.—Captain Thierichens has been given a two weeks leave of absence June 2 by officials at the Norfolk navy yard, but it was said at Norfolk today that he had returned recently and is now on board his vessel. The third surgeon is away from the ship and an inquiry is being made.

TWO BRITISH TORPEDO BOATS TORPEDOED BY SUBMARINE

German Submersible Gets In Deadly Work Off English Coast—Tide Turns In Favor of Russ—Italians Making Further Advances Into Austria—Cholera in Vienna—3,200,000 Britons in Army and Navy All to Be Sanctioned By Parliament.

By Associated Press.

London, June 10.—Two British torpedo boats were torpedoed this morning off the east coast of England by a German submarine. The boats are the No. 10 and the No. 12. The survivors, forty in number, have been brought ashore. This information was given out by the Admiralty today.

The total of men for the army and navy, sanctioned by Parliament for service so far in the present war, is 3,200,000.

"This number will not be exceeded with authority of Parliament," said Premier Asquith today, thus setting at rest the rumors that other forces had been mobilized without public knowledge.

It has been announced that the total number of officers and men who have perished through the sinking of British naval craft since the outbreak of the war is 6,409.

London, June 10.—A German tactical reverse in the Baltic provinces of Russia is indicated by the official statement today from Berlin.

It is said the Russians brought up reinforcements in the district south of Shavli and that the wing of the German forces which had been attempting an encircling movement east of the Dubysa river was withdrawn.

Fresh Russian forces have been brought up also in Galicia to the south of Lemberg, where the principal Austro-German effort is now being directed.

Geneva, June 10.—News has reached here which tends to confirm previous reports that cholera has broken out in Vienna. The disease is believed to have been brought to Vienna from Galicia by wounded soldiers.

A dispatch from Petrograd says that Russian forces north of Przemysl were preparing a new attack on the army of General von Mackensen. Sixty miles from Przemysl, it is reported, Russians repulsed a Bavarian force which retired, leaving a thousand dead and wounded.

Rome, June 10.—Capture of the Austrian town of Monfalcone is announced in an official communication which says the town was occupied after stubborn fighting along the Isonzo river.

Three Austrian aeroplanes left the Serbian arsenal at Kragujevac, dropping bombs which killed three persons and wounded ten. One of the Austrian aeroplanes is said to have been brought down.

Five more British vessels, of which four were trawlers, have been sunk by German submarines.

London, June 10.—Vienna reports that Italian efforts to cross the river Isonzo near Corizia have been repulsed after a serious engagement.

It appears the Italians have met the northward over the Trent frontier, first difficult problem of their invasion of Austria in this endeavor to cross the Isonzo.

Washington, June 10.—The note of President Wilson to Germany, which occasioned the withdrawal of William J. Bryan from the cabinet, is on the way to Berlin. It will be published in the newspapers Friday, by which time, it is calculated, it will have reached Berlin.

Regardless of the result of President Wilson's renewed demands upon Germany to make her submarine operations conform to the principles of international law and humanity, it is felt that the document is almost certain to take a large place in the history of the United States. As the cause of a cabinet crisis and a new turning point in the career of Mr. Bryan, it is regarded as of great importance whether it proves to be the prelude to unfriendly relations with Germany or not.

While the details of the note are being guarded carefully, officials have permitted it to become known that the chief feature of the communication is a second summons to Germany to state her intentions as to the observance of the principles of international law, which this government has invoked for the protection of American life and property on the high seas.

Such contentions of Germany as to alleged facts in the Lusitania case as the president felt it was proper to discuss are disposed of in the note most friendly, every effort having been made to make the expression of the United States' position as little offensive to Germany as possible.

Administration officials say that the future now rests with Germany. The action of the president in letting Mr. Bryan leave the cabinet rather than abandon the course he and the rest of his advisers agreed on as proper was pointed to as certain to have the effect of stiffening the stand of this government.

Sticks to Original Proposal.
It is felt that now all uncertainty as to whether the president will stick by his original position on the submarine issue has been removed. The German

SUNDAY SCHOOLS
OF STATE WILL
HAVE REAL HOME

Articles of incorporation, not for profit, have been asked of the secretary of state at Columbus by the Ohio Sunday School Association which after 56 years of informal existence will put itself in position to own and control property.

This move is made in anticipation of favorable action at the state Sunday school convention at Zanesville, June 22, 23 and 24, when a plan will be submitted for raising a fund of $100,000, part to be employed in the purchase of permanent headquarters for the state association work, and the remainder to go to an endowment fund, the proceeds from which will be used to support new work not possible with the revenues now available.

Letters of inquiry, directed to every county in the state, have produced hearty commendation of the plan from a large number of leaders in Sunday school work. It is estimated that there are 1,000,000 Sunday school scholars in Ohio, so that a contribution of 10 cents each will raise the desired fund.

Incorporating the Sunday school association is a legal necessity to permit it to own property. Those who signed the incorporation papers are: Dr. W. G. Clippinger, Westerville; Ed. L. Young, Norwalk; E. L. Barrett, Springfield; W. H. Radebaugh, Lancaster; George Bareis, Canal Winchester; J. D. Darling, Columbus; C. W. Shinn, Toledo; M. G. Bailey, Columbus and Dr. Harman Heston, Columbus.

A conference of all county and township executive officers and Sunday school superintendents has been called to meet in Zanesville, June 23, during the state convention, to advise on this subject.

LOOKING FOR ROOM
ENOUGH TO SET IT

The building commission and county commissioners of Clinton county are still looking for a place in central Wilmington large enough to form a site for the $300,000 court house which soon is to be erected in that city.

Two or three sites are under consideration, with the majority of commissioners favoring a location about one square from the Pennsylvania depot, although many of the citizens, it is understood, would be pleased to have the building erected on the old woolen mill corner, believing it would greatly beautify that part of the city.

YEGGS DRAW LONG TERMS IN PRISON

James Howard and William Huffman, two of the New Holland post-office yeggs who recently pleaded guilty to the charges against them, have been sentenced to eight years in the federal prison at Moundville, W. Va.

Each of the two crooks have served five previous terms. The men received five years on one count and three years on the other. In disposing of them the federal authorities believe they have placed behind steel bars two of the most daring postoffice yeggs in the country.

BRYAN IS TO APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY

Washington, June 10.—William J. Bryan's first act as a private citizen was to issue a statement explaining his reasons for leaving the cabinet and announcing that he intended to lay his view of what the American policy toward Germany should be before the public for judgment.

The statement came as a sensational climax to farewell speeches and good wishes from President Wilson and executive colleagues of the retiring secretary.

In his explanation Mr. Bryan revealed that the president had not felt justified in adopting two suggestions made by his secretary of state—that an offer should be made to Germany to submit the questions in dispute with the United States to an international commission for investigation during a year's time and that meanwhile Americans should, by proclamation, be warned not to take passage on any belligerent ships or on American vessels carrying ammunition.

These propositions Mr. Bryan expects to urge upon the people. "In the hope of securing such an expression of public sentiment as will support the president in employing these remedies if in the future he finds it consistent with his sense of duty to favor them."

Mr. Bryan's statement was received with amazement in official quarters. No comment was made at the White House, but some high officials indicated that they believed it most unfortunate that so pronounced an expression of opinion should be made public while the discussion with Germany was in progress.

The principle advocated by Mr. Bryan is embodied in treaties of peace negotiated by the United States with thirty nations and was accepted by Germany, although no convention ever was drafted. The statement is a condensation of the argument which Secretary Bryan has been making repeatedly to President Wilson in the last few weeks and upon which he hopes to call up a public sentiment in the United States that will make war with Germany impossible.

Mr. Bryan made it plain that none of his speeches on the subject of peace would be for pay. It is known that Mr. Bryan will remain in Washington at least two weeks, and then will take a brief rest at Asheville, N. C. The expectation is that after that he will take up his tour of speech-making.

Reading That Is Important

Never before have newspapers been read with such intense eagerness all over the world as today. If a decade ago saw a nation of careful newspaper readers today sees a nation of ravenous newspaper readers. We cannot ignore that there is real history in the making today.

Censored as it is, enough news sifts through to the expert newspaper men in the fields to make the newspaper the big interest of each day.

Papers have grown to be so enormous; to cover so many fields outside of mere current events, that more and more the drift is to be satisfied after the perusal of the daily and to neglect other reading.

Important as is the keeping in touch with each day's progress and, unwilling as we should all be to be considered ignorant of world events, transpiring with such rapidity as to lend to the newspaper the excitement of the novel, yet it is a fallacy to think that no other reading is needed outside of the daily paper.

A knowledge of the past is necessary as a background for the present. Before we can adjust our point of view properly and be able to exercise any fairness of judgment, we must be familiar with past conditions of which present events are the sequence.

Consequently history must be read, and there is little doubt that there has been more general reading of history since the beginning of the present war than in many a decade.

With the breaking up of that era of peace during which militarism had figured low in public interest, there came constant references to battles of the past, and constant comparisons with noted wars of history, and people were aroused to delve into pages of dust covered books for necessary information. People in general will be far better posted in regard to both history and geography after this war than they have ever been before.

Nor does the reading of history alone fill in the background completely for the well balanced mind. The reading of philosophy is important to throw high lights upon peoples and motives; to aid in the understanding of those cults which influence each nation.

Science must be studied to understand the great discoveries and inventions which are changing the entire modern world into a huge machine of horrible realism, before which the chivalric adventure and flashing swords of those combats of the middle ages seem like a picturesque epic of mythology.

Whatever biology, genealogy, prophecy or other lore can lend to broaden intelligence it is wisdom to grasp for the more richly the mind is stored the more can it cope with the enormous problems which, as never in the history of the world, present themselves today.

Be a newspaper reader, but be a newspaper reader with the mental equipment to understand and to be capable of a broad judgment.

Now for Some Dry Days

The fine weather of Monday and Tuesday brought all the available force in the rural districts to the corn fields. Men and teams were hard at work all day Monday and Tuesday forenoon plowing.

The long period of wet weather has made it impossible to work the corn and in nearly every field the weeds have made big gains on the farmer.

Ten days or two weeks or even a longer period of dry, hot weather would work a wonderful change in conditions. It would enable the farmers to clean up the corn fields and at the same time bring the young corn forward to an extent which would practically insure its growth.

The rains have been fine for the grass and the wheat and to fill up the reserve tanks for use when the summer and fall droughs come along, as they are certain to do, but right now the farmers are ready to welcome a spell of dry weather.

In the month of June, generally speaking, we cannot expect much dry weather. It is the month of thunder showers and bright sunshine between showers—the sticky humid weather, the hot house atmosphere—which gives to vegetation its early vigor and luxuriance.

Sometimes the seasons shift and change a little and having had so much wet weather in May and early June it may be possible that the thunder showers, typical of June, will be less frequent, and allow the farmers to get even with their work.

Right now anyway, the farmers want Fayette county to "go dry."

Poetry For Today

THE WAY WE TREAT OUR OWN.

If I had known in the morning How weary all the day The words unkind would trouble my mind.

That I said when you went away, I had been more careful, darling. Nor given you needless pain; But we vex our own with look and tone.

We might never talk back again.

For though in the quiet evening You may give me the kiss of peace, Yet it well might be that never for me.

The pain of the heart would cease! How many come forth in the morning

Who never go home at night, And hearts have been broken for harsh words spoken.

That sorrow can ne'er set right.

We have careful thought for the stranger,

And smiles for the sometime guest, But oft for our own the bitter tone, Though we love our own the best.

Ah, lips with the curve impatient, Ah, brow with the shade of scorn,

'Twere cruel fate were the night too late.

To undo the work of morn.

Margaret E. Sangster.

ATTORNEY IS IN AWKWARD PLACE

New York, June 10.—Through his efforts to escape prosecution for conspiring with twenty other defendants to violate the Sherman law, Edward D. Robbins, formerly the legal brains of the New Haven system, put himself in a position which may require Judge Hunt of the United States district court to declare him technically guilty without a trial.

Robbins based his plea of immunity on the testimony which he gave before the interstate commerce commission at Washington and before the federal grand jury. The plea was denied by Judge Hunt and the government attorneys now insist that Robbins is guilty pro forma, having of necessity admitted in his plea the commission of certain acts with which he was charged and from which he claimed exemption from prosecution.

Japan may find this seizing of extra territorial rights in China as troublesome as Russia did a decade ago, and how troublesome that was for the Russ Japan ought to know.

CANDIDATES ARE FILING FOR MUNICIPAL OFFICE

Number of Candidates This Year
Not So Great as Heretofore.
Complete List of Those Filing
Petitions Up to Press Time
This Afternoon—Last Day of Filing.

Indications at a late hour Thursday were that there will be a marked falling off in the number of persons seeking one of the various municipal offices in this city, and up to eleven o'clock Thursday morning only fifteen candidates for the various offices, including assessor, had been filed with George A. Gregg, Clerk of the Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Elections of Fayette county. It is the last day for filing petitions to get under the wire for the race for nomination at the coming primary election, Tuesday, August 10th, when candidates for the general election in November will be picked by the voters.

So far this year there has been a marked falling off in the scramble for the primary, and the contests are not expected to be as bitter as heretofore.

While nomination petitions may be filed until twelve o'clock tonight, there are no indications that Mayor Coffey will have opposition at the coming primary, while on the Republican ticket Charles Johnson and John Oster Jr. are the candidates filing up to late in the afternoon.

In addition to those mentioned for mayor, others who had filed for the various offices at eleven o'clock Thursday morning are:

Solicitor: Pope Gregg and T. L. Barger; City Auditor: John N. McFadden; City Treasurer: Wm. DeWeese; President of council, Al Melvin; Councilman at large, L. P. Howell and D. T. Veal; Council: Wm. Sheets, 4th ward; James H. Whelpley, 2nd ward; Assessors, Dick Pearce, 4th ward; D. E. Mershon, 2nd ward; John Bishop, 3rd ward.

Those filing later than above mentioned, are: for council, 3rd ward, Wm. J. Smith; 3rd ward, M. S. Tracey.

HOME RELIGION CAMPAIGN

Rev. Frank A. Miller begins his Home Religion campaign at the Presbyterian church Friday evening at 7:30 and for three days will interest the people in this important work.

Rev. Frank A. Miller.

In an interview along the line of this campaign, Rev. Miller said:

"For the past twenty-five years it has been my privilege to live in the homes of the people during my evangelistic work over twenty-three states of the union. After careful observation I have become more and more convinced of the need of a genuine revival of Home Religion. By this I mean the careful teaching of the children the vital truths of the Bible, the need of daily secret prayer and the re-establishing of the beautiful custom of daily Family Worship. In order to this we must

1. Recognize its necessity. It will increase reverence. It will recognize God in the home. It will increase in our children the spirit of true devotion. It will make God and sacred unseen things real. Children see flowers, the beauties of nature, the pleasures of the world, the passing show, the funny side of the newspaper, the dazzling allurements of the world, they see and read about sin in all its forms. God is unseen, heaven is far away, the spiritual life is invisible, and these things must be brought to them in human forms. They must see Father and Mother worshiping, they must hear your voice, see the light in your eye, feel the fervor of your soul! This is the only way religion can ever be real to them. Then we must

2. Consecrate ourselves to it! Covenant with God. Like Abraham, build an altar unto the Lord. Old habits of silence, formed by years of neglect are hard to break. Set yourself to the task! Frankly tell your wife and children you have neglected what you see now was a plain duty to God and to them. Show them the need of Family Worship as you now see it, and ask them to give you their sympathy and help. Resolve to start at once, do not delay. Duty is the heaviest word in the English language. And now

3. How to begin: See that each member of the family who can read has a clear print reference Bible. Take the daily readings of the Sunday school lesson, or the Bible by course, if you prefer. Let father read a verse, then mother, then the oldest child, and so on around, till a part of a chapter has been read. Comment a little on what has been read, take the best verse to remember through the day. Then sing a verse or two of some old sweet song, let father or mother offer a short prayer, naming the need of each child by name, then all join in the Lord's prayer. Next morning let another one pray, and others join in the Lord's prayer. You will realize William Cullen Bryant's "benediction that follows prayer." This whole exercise need only take five minutes, if time is limited, and such a blessing will follow! Five minutes with God and the Bible. Golden moments—moments more precious than gold which will leave their impression upon lives for generations to come, and on children yet unborn."

FRANK A. MILLER.

ASSESSORS' RETURNS NEARLY ALL FILED

All taxing districts in the county, with the exception of Jefferson township, have been canvassed by the assessors, and Jefferson is expected to report sometime this week.

The grand total of the tax duplicate is expected to be ready for announcement within a very short time.

DEATHS GEER.

Mrs. Arthur Geer died Thursday morning at half past ten o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mercer, on Temple street.

Funeral arrangements will be announced Friday.

FRANK A. MILLER.

As the date of the big seasoned in the green trot.

C. E. Mark will decide between McKinney A. C., 2:19 1/4 and Fred Grant in the 2:20 trot. McKinney is not quite so well advanced next Thursday, June 17, and will be as Mr. Mark would desire, and since a benefit performance for the local youngster Fred Grant has been showing rare form his trainer is directing the preparations.

At this time there are about 75 track animals being worked out at the 2:20 trot. One of these is Marie McGregor, 2:22 1/4, and the other is Nellie Wiggins.

Wert Compton will start his three-year-old trotter, Ormonde Rose, in the green trot.

Charles Allen is training five trotters. One or more of these will probably be entered in each of the trotting events.

It is probable that the start of the racing will be set for about 1:30 o'clock.

The purses have been arranged as follows: 2:20 trot, $100; free-for-all pace, $100; green classes, $25 each.

The United States Army on a War Basis

Peace Strength and Methods of Increase to Millions When Millions Are Needed.

By Capt. GEORGE L. KILMER, Late U. S. V.

THE latest official report of the secretary of war on the strength of the land forces shows that the regular army of the United States consists of 4,701 officers and 87,781 men. Of these 758 officers and 17,901 men belong to the coast artillery and are therefore practically stationary. In coast defenses: 1,008 officers and 18,434 men belong to the staff, technical and noncombatant branches of the army, including recruits and men engaged in recruiting. This leaves the army which can be moved from place to place—that is, the mobile army, so called—composed of 2,935 officers and 51,446 men.

The various characteristics of troops are disposed of approximately as follows: In the Philippines, 3 1/3 regiments infantry, 2 regiments cavalry, 1 regiment field artillery, 2 companies engineers, the field. If all of the national guard could be summoned in the event of war and should all respond (an inconceivable result) and if they were all found fairly efficient in the first line—that is, the troops who would be expected immediately to take the field—we could summon a force in this country of regulars and national guard amounting to 9,818 officers and 159,492 men.

The Volunteers.

The important and distinguishing features of the volunteer army act now in force are:

Any volunteer organization recruited up to three-fourths of its strength may be taken into the service by the president regardless of the militia regiments. The president has control of the appointment of officers of the volunteer regiments, which has heretofore been vested in the governors of the respective states.

The law makes the volunteer army the counterpart of the regular forces, requiring that they shall be officered and equipped on the same basis as the regulars.

It is designed to obviate all the trouble that was encountered at the beginning of the war with Spain, when strife among the volunteer organizations for assignment and the political influence exerted interfered materially with the work of getting the volunteer army in working shape.

Under the act the president may call out the volunteer army by proclamation and disband it as soon as peace is formally declared.

The president is authorized to make the necessary regulations for receiving the men into service and to select the necessary officers. The law provides for an apportionment among the states of the enlistments in proportion to population.

The law practically makes the volunteer army subject to the regulations that govern the regulars. The president receives absolute authority for making an organization of the forces into brigades and divisions regardless of state lines.

The officers are to be appointed by the president, not for particular organizations, but for the arm of the service subject to assignment for service by the war department.

New Officers.

In making appointments the president shall give preference to men with honorable discharges from the regular army or militia, to graduates of military schools and may accept the recommendations of governors.

He may take officers from the regular state militia lists, and appointments shall be made on a population basis and, so far as possible, from localities where the troops to be commanded by the appointees come from.

Only four regular army officers shall serve in any one volunteer regiment at the same time, and temporary vacancies shall be filled by promotions from lower grades. Provision is made for establishment of recruiting stations

*Under the act of congress approved Aug. 24, 1912, the 6,000 authorized enlisted men of the quartermaster corps are not to be counted as part of the strength of the army.

**Includes 96 first lieutenants of the medical reserve corps on active duty and 60 dental surgeons.

Under the act of congress approved March 1, 1887 (24 Stat. L., 435), the enlisted men of the medical department (hospital corps) are not to be counted as part of the strength of the army. The authorized strength of the hospital corps is 4,012 enlisted men.

from the depots. In this way the organizations in the field may be kept full of ablebodied fighting troops, while at the same time the services of partly disabled men may not be lost entirely to the government. In other words, the proposed law permits the establishment of the depot battalion system for all regiments of regulars and volunteers. The last provision authorizes the enlistment and training of recruits for the national guard organizations in tion in the state universities and military schools.

Fighting Head of the Army.

Chief of Staff General Hugh L. Scott has passed his whole army career getting experience on how to fight and handle fighters.

When graduated from West Point in 1879 Scott was assigned to the cavalry as an officer. He campaigned against the Blackfeet, the Sioux and several tribes of the northwest. He fought the Indians so well they admired him, and when he talked peace to them they were glad to listen. How this man, trained to war, became the greatest peacemaker the frontier has ever known came about through his wish to learn. When placed on the frontier Scott wanted to learn something, so he learned Indian languages. A half dozen tribes adopted him, and they would not fight him.

Scott was a major when the war with Spain began. He served in Cuba through the war and became adjutant to Major General Wood when military governor of Cuba. After leaving Cuba Scott was detailed to the Sulu Islands where he was military governor. There he continued his peaceful methods and became known as father of all the Moros. From the Sulus Scott was made chancellor of West Point. When the troubles broke out on the Mexican frontier Scott was placed on the border patrol.

Recently Scott was made major general and chief of staff. One of his first duties as chief of staff was to go to the Mexican border and arrange for the Mexicans to shoot at each other instead of shooting across the border line and killing American citizens in Arizona.

Medical Corps Ready.

General William C. Gorgas, surgeon general of the United States army, said recently:

"We have a medical corps large enough to treat 400,000 men in the field if war should break out tomorrow, and we could put this medical force of the army into action at once in case of hostilities. We have supplies enough to treat four times the number of men in our army at present. In addition to the 500 physicians that are at present connected with the troops, there are 1,300 more in the reserve medical corps, which the United States could employ immediately. As far as the medical side of war is concerned, we are prepared. Furthermore, let me add that the medical branch of the army is by far better prepared for war, if hostilities should be started immediately, than any other department of the army.

"Other advantages of the new law are thus summarized by the general staff:

"It will enable plans to be formulated and put into workable shape so that volunteers can be speedily organized at the outbreak of a war.

"It should prevent the payment of bounties.

"It will do away with short term service, with all its evils.

"By procuring the necessary number of men at the beginning of a war for a long period, drafting should not be necessary.

"The law should contribute toward the saving of men and money during the war and a decrease in the pension list thereafter."

It is under this new law that enlistments of volunteers for service will be made, if it becomes necessary.

The nucleus of the war establishment would be the peace establishment, whose strength and distribution are given in the secretary's report and the accompanying table.

Secretary Garrison has been quoted as saying that an army of 350,000 men in the first line would be large enough to protect our coasts against any possible invasion of the United States proper, although we would have to depend on a navy to defend the Philippines, Hawaii and other insular possessions.

The enlisted force of the United States is now 88,000 men, with about 5,000 officers of all ranks. The army is scattered in the Philippines, Alaska, Porto Rico, Hawaii and in the posts within the United States.

the service of the United States at the depots established for the training of recruits for the regular army and volunteers."

Retired officers and enlisted men are made eligible for recruiting duty, thereby reserving to the army at the front its full strength of fighting men. A medical inspector experienced in sanitation is also assigned to each field army and division and for the base and line of communication. A method of eliminating vicious and unfit officers is also provided.

The organized militia of the various states totals 8,323 officers and 119,987 men. The enlisted men thereof are required, in order to obtain the financial aid which the congress authorizes the secretary of war to extend under certain conditions, to attend twenty-four drills a year and five days annually in the field.

On this provision the memorandum of the general staff says:

"Provision is made for the additional officers necessary for the efficient recruitment

W. C. T. U. OBSERVES FLOWER MISSION DAY

This year's "Flower Mission Day" of the County W. C. T. U. records itself as the banner celebration with the largest representation from the various unions ever participating.

Nearly a hundred women drove to the Children's Home in time for dinner, taking with them splendidly filled baskets for a sumptuous picnic dinner, and also a bouquet for each child of the Home. Mrs. J. W. Willis added to the children's delight by an ice cream treat.

The lovely grounds of the Home were most inviting with the bright sunshine pouring down upon masses of bloom, and Superintendent and Mrs. Pinkerton gave the visitors cordial welcome and assisted in the plans for the dinner.

There was a pleasing program in which the children took part and each union responded.

After dinner the party drove to the infirmary, where Superintendent and Mrs. Casey and the inmates were in readiness for them.

The unions entertained with a short program. At both places were left treats of candy, nuts and bananas, and it was a happy day for all taking part.

At an executive session the W. C. T. U. decided to present a Bible to the Children's Home and a smaller one to each child.

Notice to The Subscribers of The Ohio State Telephone Company:

The New Automatic Central Office Equipment to be used by the company is being installed. The installing of the telephones will be done as soon as the installation of the Central Office equipment is completed. It is necessary for the company to know what type of telephone the subscriber desires. In order to do this we are sending to each subscriber a return post card with the request that they cross out the type not desired, sign the card and return promptly.

We are making a display of the telephone in Craig Bros.' window from June 11 to June 17th, and request that you see them and make your selection.

Asking that you co-operate with us in this matter and return the card promptly, we are,

Yours very truly,

THE OHIO STATE TELEPHONE COMPANY.

ENRAGED WOMAN GOES ON RAMPAGE

The police were called to East Market street about 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night after receiving a message that Mrs. Lon Anderson had run amuck in the home of Emilie Thornton, breaking dishes and scattering household furniture in every direction.

A crowd had gathered in front of the Thornton home when the police arrived. The doors of the house were thrown open and the officers went inside but a thorough search failed to reveal anyone in the house. The police were told by a bystander that he had heard the breaking of dishes and the screams of a woman. No arrests were made. Lon Anderson reported the trouble to the police. The persons involved are unknown.
